Acknowledgments

This issue is a joint collaboration between Kohl and The A Project. As we explore what feminist complicity and solidarity could look like, our joint arms are bolstered by the political creativity and commitment of our feminist community, authors, and reviewers. This issue is a tribute to them and to other projects that are able to find deep-seated convergences with one another.

We would like to start by thanking The A Project, particularly Rola Yasmine and Sarah Kaddoura, who embarked on this journey with us.

We would like to thank Kohl's advisory board, Arianne Shahvisi, Ebtihal Mahadeen, Elisabeth Armstrong, Khoulood Mahdhaoui, Maie Panaga, Nadge Al-Ali, Rola Yasmine, and Sawsan Abdulrahim, who challenge us and join their visions to ours.

The Arabic version of Kohl would not have been possible without the tireless work of our team of translators, Bernadette Daou, Hiba Abbani, Leen Hashem, Safa Hamzeh, and Sarah Kaddoura, who generously accommodated our tight deadlines.

Once again, our writers and contributors have humbled us with their fierce determination and will to bring feminist knowledge to life. Thank you "a soon-to-be-working mother," Arianne Shahvisi, Batoul Sukkar, Imen Yacoubi, Imene Amara, Islam Khatib, Kate Hashemi, Luna Saadeh, Menna Agha, Reef Al-Amine, Rola Yasmine, Sabiha Allouche, Sara Abu-Zaki, Shereen Abuelnaga, and Theresa Sahyoun for trusting us with your writings, and to Zeina Hamady for her artwork illustrating this issue. We are honored to publish you in Kohl.

Our immense gratitude goes to the peer reviewers of this issue's editorial review board, Akanksha Mehta, Arianne Shahvisi, Dina Georgis, Leen Hashem, Lisa Armstrong, Nadge Al-Ali, and Nof Nasser-Eddine, who have generously provided us and the authors with detailed and thoughtful feedback. We look forward to future cooperation.

We cannot thank Layal Khatib, our web developer and miracle worker, enough. She was able to rework Kohl's website from scratch, despite the numerous technical issues and challenges. She also provided us with invaluable advice that helped anchor our digital autonomy. We extend our gratitude to Public Works for their fantastic web design, and artist Suzanne Abi-Jaber for creating our new logo.

We would like to thank Heinrich Böll Stiftung and their Middle East Office in Beirut for their continuous financial support since Kohl's beginnings. We are grateful for the support of Mama Cash, Astraea Lesbian Foundation for Justice, as well as Global Fund for Women.

The Kohl Team,
Ghiwa Sayegh and Roula Seghaier
